Controversies in Urology: Urolithiasis and Men's Health

INTENDED AUDIENCE

This educational activity is intended for urologists and other interested health care professionals.

OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Recall fundamentals of the medical management of stones and stone disease as they relate to global warming
- Recognize medical expulsive therapy and imaging controversies
- Summarize dietary management of stones
- Identify indications and techniques for ureteroscopy and stents
- Describe the work-up of the infertile male, erectile dysfunction and PSA screening
- Explain minimally invasive surgery for BPH and the indications for urodynamics

PRACTICE GAPS AND ASSESSMENT OF NEED

The content of this educational activity was selected to match identified gaps between current practices and best practices.

The overall objective of this activity is to discuss these practice gaps and provide participants with the knowledge, skills, tools and resources needed to change their professional practice and improve the care of their patients.

ELEMENTS OF COMPETENCE

This CME activity has been designed to change learner competence and performance and focuses on the American Board of Medical Specialties areas of medical knowledge and patient care and procedural skills.

Dr. David T. Uehling was born and raised outside Chicago, and completed his urology training at Northwestern. Following a successful stint as a fellow at Chicago Children's Memorial Hospital, he joined the staff at the University of Wisconsin in 1965. Clinically, Dr. Uehling developed a statewide practice in pediatric urology, and served the children of Wisconsin admirably for 40 years.

Throughout his career, Dr. Uehling distinguished himself in research, with continuous NIH funding in the treatment of urinary tract infections. In 1983, Dr. Uehling assumed the chair of the division at UW, and has grown the program into one of national standing. Since stepping down as chairman in 2001, Dr. Uehling continues to serve the Department of Urology as an Emeritus Professor. Dr. Uehling has impacted the lives of many patients, urologists and scientists throughout the world. This meeting in his honor is a small way to emphasize all of his accomplishments.
